

connecting Communities rural transport

CONNECTING COMMUNITIES is a new transport initiative designed to help people travel around Suffolk — even from places where there is no regular bus service.

Does that sound familiar? Do you find it hard to get to college, shops or medical appointments — or to visit friends and family in the county? That's where Connecting Communities comes in.

Suffolk County Council is working in partnership with Suffolk Community Transport Operators, all ready to help you get where you need to be — when you need to be there.

If you need to travel and there's no local public transport, the Connecting Communities service will collect you, take you to an appropriate bus route or train link — helping you reach your destination quickly and easily.

Is it time to get on board?

Yes, Suffolk Onboard.
